

Authors

Guglielmo Trentin is a research manager at the Institute for Educational Technology of the Italian National Research Council (CNR). He has taught Knowledge Flow and HRD at the University of Turin. Presently he is managing the TRIS project (ICT and Inclusive Education), a framework agreement between Italy's Ministry of Education, CNR and Telecom Italia.

Valentina Grion PhD, is a researcher in Education at the University of Padua. She is National Coordinator of SIPED "Student Voice" group of research and International Consultant of research group "NetEDU" (Núcleo de Etnografia em Educação). She was a Visiting Scholar at the University of Cambridge (UK), Northampton (UK) and Rio de Janeiro (BR).

Giuliana De Vecchi, a graduate in Philosophy, is a primary teacher in a school in the North of Italy. She collaborates as a teacher educator with the University of Padua, leading workshops in assessment of competences. Her main expertise is in co-planning teaching/learning practices.

Tamara Zappaterra is an Assistant Professor in "Teaching and Special Education" at the Department of Education and Psychology of the University of Florence, where she teaches "Special education". She has got in Italy the National Qualification as an Associate Professor. Her scientific activity concerns disabilities educational studies. She is also a Member of the Scientific Committee of Representative Board, on behalf of Italy, of European Agency for Development in Special needs Education (CE).

Elisabetta Grieco is PhD in Psychological and Pedagogical Sciences at the University of Naples "Federico II" ( Department of Theory and Methods of the Human and Social Sciences). She is currently a special needs teacher in the high school and works as a teaching assistant in Social Pedagogy at the University of Naples "Suor Orsola Benincasa" and in Pedagogy of Learning Processes and General and Social Pedagogy at the University of Naples "Federico II".

Antonia Cunti is a Full Professor of General and Social Pedagogy at the Department of Movement Sciences and Wellness, "Parthenope" University of Naples (Italy). Her research interests are the education of educational professionals in the perspective of reflexivity and the care in systemic and constructivist approach, with a specific attention to the education of corporeality in relation to movement and sport practices. She is the Director of the book series Pedagogy of Body and Movement and Coordinator of working group Siped Guidance, Counseling and Educative Care.

Alessandra Priore is a psychologist and PhD in Psychological and Pedagogical Sciences. Her research interests are scholastic and university guidance, with the specific attention to the dynamics associated with the processes of choices in the perspective of reflexivity and educative care. She has been a guidance tutor at “Federico II” and “Parthenope” University of Naples. Her latest publication is Strumenti riflessivi per la cura del Sé professionale, in Cunti A. Formarsi alla cura riflessiva. Tra esistenza e professione, FrancoAngeli, 2014.

Chiara Gemma Associate Professor of Methodologies of Teaching and Special Education at the University of Bari, Department of Education, Psychology and Communication. University Coordinator of the Boards of Guidance and Counselling and Manager of Teaching Support for Disabled Students Activities. Italian Coordinator of SIPED “Student Voice” research program. Member of the International Research Group - EDUTIC-ADEI - in the University of Alicante.

Katia Montalbetti is a researcher in Education at the Catholic University of the Sacred Heart - Faculty of Education, Member of Centre for Studies and Research on Education Policies (CeRiForm) and educational Coordinator of Doctoral Course in Education. Her research interests concern research methods in education, training of teachers, headmasters and educators and development, monitoring and assessment of the educational processes and systems.

Alessandra Romano Psychologist, Ph.D. student at the Department of Humanities of University of Naples “Federico II”. She belongs to the group of research of LEPE, Laboratory of Epistemology and Educational Practice. Her research work explores the conjunction between the theory of the transformative learning and the methodologies of democratic education.

Maria Rosaria Strollo is a Full Professor of General and Social Pedagogy at the University of Naples Federico II and teaches Pedagogy of Learning Processes and Social Education in the degree course in Psychological Sciences and Techniques. She is the Director of the the Epistemology and Practices of Education Laboratory. Since 2004 she has been responsible for the Common Area of the University Federico II “Teaching Interuniversity Specialization School of Campania”.

Andrea Traverso, Ph.D., is a researcher in Experimental Pedagogy at the Department of Education of the University of Genoa. He teaches Educative designand evaluation and Methodology of Educational Research. Since October 2013 he has been a member of the Executive Council of SIPED, Italian Society of Pedagogy.

Valentina Pennazio, Ph.D., is a research fellow and contract lecturer at the Department of Education of the University of Genoa. The instructional technology in the disability and the structuring of inclusive learning environments are her research interests.

Davide Parmigiani, Ph.D., is a researcher of education at the Department of Education of the University of Genoa. He teaches Instructional design and evaluation and Media and technologies in education. The creation, the management and the evaluation of learning environments are his research interests.

Chiara Urbani teaches Pedagogy of Training at the University of Urbino "Carlo Bo", where she also coordinates the traineeship of Primary Education Sciences. Among her publications: Reflexivity and Educational Practices (Tecnodid, 2008), Planning and Governing School (FrancoAngeli, 2006), Educating the Thought (Franco Angeli, 2013).

Piera Sestini is a researcher in English Literature at the University of Siena (Department of Education, Humanities and Intercultural Communication, Arezzo Campus). She teaches English Literature and English Language and Translation. Her main research interests are contemporary English women writers and the theory and practice of translation. She has published numerous translations of nineteenth and twentieth century British and American authors (H. James, W. De La Mare, J.S. Le Fanu, V. Lee, etc).

Laura Occhini is a researcher in Developmental Psychology at the University of Siena. Her research interests are currently focused on three main areas of investigation: "dignity in care", emotions and their regulation, the rocky and disagreeable relationship. At the Department of Education, Humanities and Intercultural Communication she teaches Developmental Psychology and Occupational Psychology.

Maria Chiara Michelini teaches Pedagogy of Training at the University of Urbino "Carlo Bo", where she also coordinates the traineeship of Primary Education Sciences. Among her publications: Reflexivity and Educational Practices (Tecnodid, 2008), Planning and Governing school (Franco Angeli, 2006), Educating the Thought (Franco Angeli, 2013).