

Authors – Notizie sugli autori

Carmela Annarumma is Research Fellow in Organization Studies at the University of Salerno, where she teaches “Organization and Management of Public Sector Entities”. Research interests include, but are not limited to: health literacy, organizational health literacy, health care organization and management, organizational behavior, and leadership. E-mail: cannarumma@unisa.it.

Paola Adinolfi is Full Professor of Organization Studies at the University of Salerno, where She chairs the Interdepartmental Centre for Research in Law, Economics and Management of Public Administrations (CIRPA). Areas of research include, but are not limited to: complexity management, leadership, organizational behavior, health care management and organization. E-mail: padinolfi@unisa.it.

Mariacristina Bonti is Full Professor of Organization Studies and Human Resource Management at the Università di Pisa. She serves as President of the Master Degree in Strategy, Management and Control. She is member of many scientific and professional associations such as ASSIOA – Association of Italian Organization Studies Academics, EGOS – European Group of Organization Studies, AOM – Academy of Management, AIDEA – Accademia Italiana di Economia Aziendale, EURAM – European Academy of Management. Her current scientific research areas include small business growth, long-lived Family Smes, human resources management. E-mail: mariacristina.bonti@unipi.it.

Vincenzo Cavaliere is Associate Professor of Organization Studies and Human Resource Management at the Department of Economics and Management (DISEI) – University of Florence (Italy). The main focus of his research is organizational change, knowledge sharing, and competency-based strategic human resource management. He has recently created ICOHRS Research Lab (Innovating & Changing Organizations and Human Resource Strategies), a research group of DISEI and unit of TREZERODUE Academic spin-off of the University of Florence. He is member of relevant international and Italian academic associations, such as ASSIOA (Associazione Italiana di Organizzazione Aziendale), AIDEA (Associazione Italiana di Economia Aziendale) and EGOS (European Group for Organizational Studies). E-mail: vincenzo.cavaliere@unifi.it.

Edoardo Della Torre is Associate Professor of Organization Studies and Human Resource Management at the University of Bergamo, where he also serves as Director of the post-graduate program in Human Resource Management and Development. He is also Affiliate Professor at the IESEG School of management of the Catholic University of Lille, France. His main research interests include HRM practices in smaller firms, high performance work systems, compensation systems, human capital and HRM outcomes. E-mail: edoardo.dellatorre@unibg.it.

Ernesto De Nito is Associate Professor of Organization Studies at the University Magna Græcia of Catanzaro, where he currently teaches Organization Theory and Design, and Organizational Behaviors. E-mail: denito@unicz.it.

Primiano Di Nauta is Associate Professor of Organization Studies at the University of Foggia, where he currently chairs Organization and Management of Human Resources and Strategic Management. He is member of the faculty board of the PhD Management, Banking and Commodity Sciences at Sapienza University of Rome, member of the editorial advisory board of Kybernetes (Emerald), member of the scientific board of Systems Management book series (Routledge-Giappichelli), member of ASSIOA and AIDEA, and vice president of ASVSA – Association for Research on Viable Systems. E-mail: primiano.dinauta@unifg.it.

Martina Gianecchini (PhD, Business Management, University of Udine) is Associate Professor at the Department of Economics and Management of the University of Padova. She is Scientific Director of the Executive Master in HRM at CUA Business School. Her main research interests regard career management and labour market dynamics. She is member of the international research group 5C (Cross-Cultural Collaboration on Contemporary Careers) which aims at understanding meanings, determinants and outcomes of careers around the world. E-mail: martina.gianecchini@unipd.it.

Sara Lombardi is Assistant Professor of Organization Studies at the Department of Economics and Management of the University of Florence. In 2016 she got a Ph.D. in Management from LUISS “Guido Carli” in Rome. Her research focuses on knowledge sharing, innovative work behavior, motivation at work and organizational learning. She works with Copenhagen Business School, University of Texas at Austin, Bocconi University and University of Pisa. She is member of the Academy of Management (AOM), the European Group for Organizational Studies (EGOS) and the Associazione Italiana di Organizzazione Aziendale (ASSIOA). E-mail: sara.lombardi@unifi.it.

Marcello Martinez is Full Professor of Organization Studies, Department of Economics – University of Campania Luigi Vanvitelli – where he currently teaches Organizational Design and Organization of Transport Systems. E-mail: marcello.martinez@unicampania.it.

Riccardo Mercurio is Full Professor of Organization Studies at the University of Naples Federico II/ Mercatorum University, where he currently teaches Organizational Development and Human Resource Management. E-mail: mercurio@unina.it.

Fabrizio Montanari is Associate Professor of Organization Studies and Human Resource Management at the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia, where he is also Scientific Coordinator of OPERA, a Research Unit specialized in the study of creativity. He is also Research Affiliate at ASK Research Center Bocconi University. He has been Visiting Scholar at Boston College, and Visiting Professor at Copenhagen Business School and Johannes Kepler University of Linz. His main research interest regards the analysis of networks, clusters and teams in creative industries. E-mail: fabrizio.montanari@unimore.it.

Rocco Palumbo is Licensed Associate Professor and Research Fellow in Organization Studies at the University of Salerno, where he teaches “Organization Structuring and Management”. Research interests include, but are not limited to: organizational structures; inter-organizational relationship, organizational innovation, health literacy, and public services’ co-production. E-mail: rpalumbo@unisa.it.

Mario Pezzillo Iacono is Associate Professor of Organization Studies, Department of Economics – University of Campania Luigi Vanvitelli – where he currently teaches Human Resource Management and Organizational Design. E-mail: mario.pezzilloiacono@unicampania.it.

Debora Sarno is Adjunct Professor of Planning and Strategic Management at Sapienza University of Rome and teaching assistant of Organization Studies at University of Foggia. She holds a PhD in Engineering and Economics of Innovation from the University of Salerno (Italy) and she is Project Management Professional from the PMI, USA. She is Associate Editor of Intelligent Industrial Systems (Springer) and member of the Italian associations ASSIOA, ASVSA and SIM. Her research interests include systems theories and Smart Service Systems, particularly in the field of Healthcare management. E-mail: debora.sarno@unifg.it.

Sara Sassetti is Ph.D. candidate in Business Administration and Management at the University of Pisa. Her research interests mainly regard entrepreneurs’ and managers’ decision-making, with a particular focus on the cognitive and emotional processes likely to lead to firms’ growth. She is member of relevant international and Italian academic associations, such as ASSIOA (Associazione Italiana di Organizzazione Aziendale), EURAM (European Academy of Management) and EGOS (European Group for Organizational Studies). E-mail: sara.sassetti@for.unipi.it.