

Authors - Notizie sugli autori

Davide Arcidiacono is Researcher in Economic Sociology at the University of Catania. His research interests regard platform organization and digital transformation. He is principal investigator of the UniCt Starting Grant INNOVIT 2020-2022 (Innovare In Digitale Tra Regolazione E Resistenza Organizzativa). He's also member of the international research team on the foundational economy and member of the SWIRL project (Slash Workers and Industrial ReLations).

E-mail: dlarcid@unict.it

Emiliana Armano holds a PhD in Economic Sociology from the Department of Social and Political Sciences, University of Milan. As an Independent researcher, she collaborates in studies adopting a social inquiry and co-research methodological approach. Her research focuses on the intertwining of work processes and production of subjectivity in the context of platform economy.

E-mail: emi\_armano@yahoo.it

Eduardo Barberis is Associate Professor in Sociology of Environment and Territory at the University of Urbino Carlo Bo, where he teaches Immigration Policies, Sociology of Territory and Foundations of Welfare Societies and Comparative Social Policies. His research interests mainly focus on the territorial dimension of welfare policies - broadly defined - and of migration phenomena.

E-mail: eduardo.barberis@uniurb.it

Nico Bazzoli is Research Fellow in Urban and Rural Sociology at the Department of Economics, Society and Politics of the University of Urbino Carlo Bo. His research interests include territorial inequalities, local and regional development, social policies, housing and social movements.

E-mail: nico.bazzoli@uniurb.it

Doi 10.3280/SO2021-001012

Studi organizzativi n. 1 2021- Issn 0391-8769, Issn-e 1972-4969

Marco Briziarelli is an Associate Professor at the university of New Mexico (USA). He studies critical approaches to media and communication, especially as these fields intersect with broader issues in political and social theory, intellectual and cultural history. He is currently interested in media and social movements, critical conceptualization of digital labor, and left wing populism.

E-mail: mbriziarelli@unm.edu

Attila Bruni is Associate Professor at the Department of Sociology and Social Research at the University of Trento, where he teaches Sociology of Organizations and Sociology of Technological Phenomena.

E-mail: attila.bruni@unitn.it

Federico Butera is professor emeritus of Organization Sciences and architect of complex organizations. From 1988 to 2013 full professor at the University of Milano Bicocca and at the Sapienza University of Rome. Founder and president of Irso-Istitute for Action Research on Organization and Systems since 1974. He has been editor in chief of the journal Studi Organizzativi since 1998. He authored over 250 articles and 37 books in Italy and abroad. His latest books are Organizzazione e società. Innovare le organizzazioni dell'Italia che vogliamo, printed by Marsilio, and Coesione e innovazione. Il patto per il lavoro dell'Emilia-Romagna (with Patrizio Bianchi, Giorgio De Michelis, Paolo Perulli, Francesco Seghezzi, Gianluca Scarano), printed by Il Mulino.

E-mail: federico.butera@irso.it

Domenico Carbone is Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Sociology at University of Eastern Piedmont where he teaches General Sociology, Methodology of Social Sciences, and Sociology of inequalities. His research interests concern the generative and reproductive processes of social inequalities and the role of institutional mechanisms in these phenomena.

E-mail: domenico.carbone@uniupo.it

Kristin Carls is a Research Fellow at the Sociological Research Institute (SOFI) in Goettingen (Germany). Her research interests concern the fields of labour process and labour relations, the development of subjectivity and conflict related to processes of precarisation, as well as digitalisation and its work-related health effects. She received her PhD from the University of Bremen (Germany).

E-mail: Kristin.Carls@sofi.uni-goettingen.de

Salvatore Cominu is an Independent researcher and consultant. He collaborates within centers such as IRES Piemonte (Institute of Economic and Social Research) and Consorzio AASTER, on projects related to socioeconomic change, territorial development and policy evaluation. His research interests include the relationship between technology transformation, organizations and the content of work.

E-mail: salvatore.cominu@gmail.com

Joselle Dagnes is Tenure-Track Professor of Economic Sociology at the University of Torino, where she teaches Sociology of Markets and Entrepreneurs, Social Network and Innovation. Her main research interests include regional development and territorial cohesion, financialization processes and financial markets, formal and informal regulation processes, network analysis and networking processes, mafia's processes of territorial expansion at both national and international level, and the foundational economy.

E-mail: joselle.dagnes@unito.it

Gianfranco Dioguardi is Honorary Chairman of the Dioguardi Foundation and Professor of Economics and Business Administration. In 1989 he has been named in Italy Cavaliere del Lavoro, and in 2004 he was awarded the French Légion d'Honneur. He is the author of various books and essays on economics, organization, and has also written on many themes of the world of ideas. His latest published works are Nouvelle Alliance pour le Troisième Millénaire, Hermann, Paris 2016, Per una scienza nuova del governo della città, Roma 2017, City School – Una scuola nuova per nuove competenze urbane, Bari, 2019.) In 2019 he promoted at the University of Bari an innovative City School for the training of new professionals for management of urban complexity.

E-mail: gianfrancodioguardi14@gmail.com

Silvia Doria, PhD, is a sociologist and an adjunct professor of Organizational Behavior working at Roma Tre University. She is the editor-in-chief (with Parziale F. e Tusini S.) of the new annual journal Sociologie. Since 2015, she has been a member of RiSORSa (Ricerca Sociale, Organizzazione e Rischio in Sanità) at the Department of Social and Economic Sciences (Sapienza University of Rome) where she deals with safety, management, and gender in the health sector. Her research interests deal with workplace safety, the social construction of gender in organizations, work-life balance, smart working, and policy analysis. Her theoretical background is in qualitative sociology.

E-mail: silvia.doria@uniroma3.it

Francesco Miele is research fellow at the Department of Philosophy, Sociology, Education and Applied Psychology of the University of Padova. He is also adjunct professor at University of Trento and at University of Verona.

E-mail: francesco.miele@unitn.it

Ivana Pais is Associate Professor in Economic Sociology at Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore. Her research interest focuses on platform economy and digital labour. She is the principal investigator of the SWIRL project (Slash Workers and Industrial ReLations, <https://www.swirlproject.eu/>) and of the WePlat project (Welfare systems in the age of platforms: drivers of change for users, providers and policy makers).

E-mail: ivana.pais@unicatt.it

Daniel Pittino is associate professor of Organization at the University of Udine and senior associate professor at the Jönköping International Business School. His main teaching and research areas involve organizational behavior in various contexts and applications.

E-mail: daniel.pittino@uniud.it

Jasmin Schreyer is a research associate at the Nuremberg Campus of Technology, at the Department of Sociology of the Friedrich-Alexander University Erlangen-Nuremberg, where she teaches Labor Studies and Sociology of Technology. Her main research interests include industrial relations, digital transformation and new labor organization, sociological theory, and qualitative methods.

E-mail: jasmin.schreyer@fau.de

Nora S. Stampfl is an independent researcher and writer working in the field of future studies. She is especially interested in how technology shapes society and therefore intensively deals with topics such as future of work, platform economy, the transformation of libraries and many more. She studied economics and is currently earning a degree in philosophy. She lives and works in Berlin.

E-mail: nora.stampfl@f-21.de

Lia Tirabeni is Assistant Professor at the Department of Sociology and Social Research at the University of Milan Bicocca, where she teaches Sociology of Organizations. She has been Visiting Research Fellow at the Department of Management Science & Technology at the Athens University of Economics and Business.

E-mail: lia.tirabeni@unimib.it